W. A. OLIVER, late engineer of the fire department, was tendered a supper at the Alberta Hotel on Monday evening last, by the fire brigade. Seated around the table were the mayor, ex-mayor and several of the councillors, besides a number of Mr. Oliver's friends who did not belong to the brigade. After a fine supper, served in F. Marriag's usual good style, the evening was spent in speech and song, one and all expressing their sorrow that Mr. Oliver was leaving. One speaker said he hoped that when Mr. Oliver returned with his better half, he would not desert the brigade entirely, and when the boys had a call he would turn out and take a run with them.

Look at this, farmers. It is said, "The mills of the Gods grind slowly," but the mill of the Edmonton Milling Co. grinds too fast for the amount of wheat ground in this district, having already ground nearly all the wheat grown in Northern Alberta, and is now working on wheat imported from Manitoba, from where they will have to bring a supply for the next seven months or else shut down and wait for the new crop in October. Now idle mills are expensive, and do not look well in a productive country like ours. So if it pays to raise wheat why not choose the best seed grain and keep your local mill going, without having to send to Manitoba to assist in the production. The Edmonton Milling Co. are advertising pure red fye wheat for seed at 80 cents a bushel.

TAX fire bell rang on Tuesday morning, after receiving a telephone message that a fire had started in Fraser's saw mill. Both engines were out in short order, but it was found on arrival at the top of the hill, that they were not required. It appears the smoke stack became chocked up. The engineer being out at the time, and on his return the engine house was filled with dense smoke. It was supposed the bell had caught fire and an alarm was sent in. No one part of the fire engine should be overlooked. The irons on the end of the whiffle-trees were found to be quite loose when hooking the team up on Tuesday morning.

VERY DANGEROUS.

It is a constant occurrence to see runaway horses dashing through the streets. If this happened in larger cities, loss of life would be very great, and unless some means are taken to prevent it so often occurring, it will certainly result in some serious disaster here.

On Tuesday morning yell could be heard on the street "look out, here comes a runaway," and a team attached to a light wagon, belonging to Goddridge & Kelly, dashed through the Main street, nearly colliding with a wagon standing on the corner of Queen street, in which a lady with some children were sitting, then turning down Fraser avenue, making for the owners stable, near which the junior school. The children just at that time being all out for recess scampered in all directions, and it was certainly a miraculous escape that none where hurt. This occurrence will pass off as others have, and people will say, only another runaway, but should someone get killed, then a cry will arise, when it is too late, who is to blame?

The citizens and police of Victoria, B. C. have decided that bloomers are not suitable for ladies' street wear, even when worn as a bicycling costume, and have taken steps to enforce the decision. Miss Ethel Denimont, an enthusiastic wheel woman, pretty and graceful, last week made her appearance in bloomer costume. The town came forth to gaze and for a moment the policemen were petrified with amazement. Then they were aroused to action and Miss Ethel received an official visitor who notified her that a repetition of her appearance in the objectionable costume would mean a police court summons on the charge of creating a disturbance on a public street.

Edmonton Farmers . . .

Our Company have decided to erect during the coming summer an Oat Meal Mill and Elevator at South Edmonton. We would therefore call the attention of the Farmers to the importance of raising the best varieties of oats suitable for milling and for which the highest market price will be paid. We shall also require a limited quantity of choice Two-rowed Barley. We had made arrangements for making a shipment from the coast but find the same unnecessary as the best varieties can be secured from T. W. Lines, Edmonton.

EDMONTON BULLETIN, APRIL 4th, 1895.

EVERLASTING DISGRACE.

So says "Sansculotte," writing from Regina, if the authorities don't trace the rabbit disease, right back to the bacterium.

I have followed with much interest the various accounts given in the western papers of the mysterious tragedy that has recently occurred near Edmonton. The medical evidence is extremely unsatisfactory and the post mortem examinations, if the published accounts are to be believed, were of a somewhat superficial kind, and productive of no result. Imagination fails to picture anything more pathetic than what must have occurred at that lonely shanty, and it will be an everlasting disgrace to the Northwest if some systematic effort is not put forth by the authorities to elucidate the Sucker Island mystery.

Healthy, hardy young pioneers as these fine young fellows seem to have been, do not die of nothing. There is one thing that seems to me to point to a possible solution, and is afforded by one of those touching appeals for help, written on the chance of some passing traveller seeing it. That one in which the writer states that their legs are "swollen from eating rabbits." It is a fact well known to all old timers that once in every five or seven years the bush rabbits become excessively numerous, but no sooner does this occur than they are attacked by some mysterious disease which carries them off by the hundreds. Their carcasses may be found sometimes lying in heaps through the bush. When the rabbit population has been thus decimated the disease disappears and the rabbits again increase in numbers and the process is repeated. Now this disease showed itself last year and is still prevalent and it is altogether probable that the unfortunate young men met their death by eating diseased rabbits. The cause of this disease is not clear, by some it is attributed to the rabbits being forced to eat food not natural to them owing to the scarcity of their proper nourishment produced by their excessive numbers, an explanation which is not improbable, as the flesh is said to acquire a bitter taste, so much so in fact that even the Indians won't eat them. These facts are well known; and it seems to me that this disease calls for scientific investigation.

At one time when large prizes were offered by the Australians for some method of dealing with the rabbit pest in Australia many people gave their attention to the rabbit disease, with a view to its possible introduction to that country, and some of them should now be in position to give valuable information on the subject. It seems to me to be a matter that in the interests of the public health should not be overlooked.

We know really very little about the diseases of the lower animals. Take a disease like distemper in the dog for instance; no two authorities agree as to its cause. It is only when diseases occur which affect our food supply, directly or indirectly, that the force of science are put to work to travel them back to the bacterium. I believe that much light will yet be shed on human pathology by the careful study of the many diseases to which many of the lower animals are subject which at present we know absolutely nothing about.

The bush rabbit of this country has another enemy besides the disease already mentioned. It is a kind of tick which attaches itself to the young rabbits at an early age and clings to it as it grows and finally kills it. I hope some of your readers who know more about the matter than I do, will be heard from through your columns.

"HIS MOUTH WAS CLOSED."

Mr. Davin in The Leader says: That a candidate sought to raise prejudice upon the school question at a meeting after his (Mr. Davin's) mouth was closed. We will not endeavor to refute the charge: the point is insignificant, except as it recalls the fact that Mr. Davin's mouth has been closed upon that question for a long time. It is not on public record that from the date of his advent into Canadian politics until the 12th day of March, A. D. 1894, he ever allowed his mouth to open in defense of the cause of non-sectarian education. The question is not a new one by any means, and it scarcely becomes Mr. Davin,—after having kept his mouth shut for twenty years, during which time the press and public platform of Canada were at his disposal,—to take the pouts and complain that his "mouth was closed." At Moose Jaw on the 12th he had ample opportunity to open his mouth, but he displayed no eagerness to make an opening. In fact it had to be opened by the audience, and his admission that he favored non-sectarian schools was literally drawn from him against his will. At least the circumstance left that impression upon his hearers, and when one comes to study Hansard, the impression is deepened, for as late as last session of parliament, N. F. Davis raised his voice in opposition to the national school system as he understands it.

Take sensible advice, Mr. Davin, and replace the seal upon your lips; close your mouth again; for as sure as you leave it in the open, uncertain, irresponsible, unprotected fashion in which we now find it, it will continue to give you away, and you'll get both feet into it without a doubt.—Moose Jaw Times.

POLITICAL NOTES.

Toronto, March 27.—The Evening Star says Clark Wallace will resign at once.

The southerners are already after Mr. Haultain's seat in the legislative assembly. Mr. McKenzie has declared himself and a requisition has been circulated asking him to become a candidate. Mr. Wood has said he would accept nomination, and three gentlemen at Pincher Creek are also looking for the honor.

A sensible idea from Nova Scotia: There is no excitement down here over the Manitoba school question. The belief is general that the Greenway government and the Roman Catholic minority can agree upon an honorable compromise. If the Dominion government undertakes to coerce Manitoba by the enactment of remedial legislation there will probably be some stir. The people of the Maritime provinces are somewhat sensitive on the question of provincial rights, especially in connection with educational matters and would not like to see Manitoba made the victim of coercive legislation. A correspondent of the Chronicle suggested that the difficulty could easily be settled by an independent arbitration.

After being out on strike for several days, the minister of justice returned to work this morning. The Dominion cabinet crisis is ended. Sir Charles Hibbert Tupper has returned to actual work in the cabinet, the difficulties between himself and Premier Bowell having been amicably settled. It is said the conditions on which Sir Charles surrendered are that no government measures will be introduced during the coming session of parliament regarding the Manitoba schools; that the matter will be left an open question and that only the estimates will be submitted to parliament, so that the session may be as brief as possible, thus giving an opportunity of early appeal to the country after proroguing. Sir Charles was at his office in the department of justice today.—Free Press.

ELECTION ADDRESS.

To the electors of Alberta.

GENTLEMEN.—As the nominee of the convention of Alberta liberals which was held recently at Calgary, and having been assured of a strong support by the patrons of industry in Northern Alberta, as well as at the solicitation of a large number of independent conservatives in this part of the country, I have the honor to offer myself as a candidate for the representation of Alberta in the Commons at the approaching general election. The stand which I take with the full knowledge and consent of those who have tendered me their support is that of an independent as to party, but not as to principle. On the main question at present at issue between the liberal and conservative parties, I understand that the organizations and individuals tendering me their support have done so with the wish and expectation that I would and will so far as lies in my power support the policy of a tariff for revenue as against the policy of a tariff for protection, which is the declared policy of the present government; on the ground that the protective policy discriminates unjustly against the western producer in favor of the eastern manufacturer.

Although holding strongly with the liberal party and also the patron organization on this point, I have not bound myself to either of these because I believe that the first duty of the single representative of so great a country holding such great possibilities as this district of Alberta should be to use his every energy for the further development of this country and the realization of these possibilities; as he can not if he is to be subject to restraint by the exigencies of any party. This constituency has had party representation during the past eight years,—has been represented by a member of the party in power then and now. If the results have been satisfactory, that principle should be continued. If not it should be changed. It is because I believe that this system of party representation has been gravely injurious to this district that I have consented to make the personal sacrifice involved in my candidature, and because, so far as I knew, no other person was likely to come forward to advocate these or like views.

In a region so vast and varied as Alberta it would be impossible for any man at any time to define all the points of policy that would affect each locality, therefore I do not attempt to do so here. I hope from time to time, however, in the course of the contest, to have the opportunity to discuss fully with the electors at most of the principal centres of population, all matters that may come up for discussion, in whatever shape they may appear. That such a vast region, having such a large population and such important interests should be accorded only one representative is as plain a case of injustice as is required to show the glaring failure of party representation to secure the people in even their simplest rights. The matter of railway extension and railway rates particularly in the north and the question of irrigation in the south seem to be the great questions affecting the interests of the district with which parliament will from time to time have to deal. I need not point out that while these are vital questions to Alberta, they are not party questions at all, and it is all the more necessary that your representative should be in a position to advocate your interests in regard to them in parliament without party hindrance even if he has to do it without party support.

Speaking generally I may say that I will support a policy of development for Alberta and while I will not bind myself to ask for favors for any section or interest I will bind myself to do all in my power to see that each section and every interest receives fair and

In conclusion I will say that although I have no personal interest to serve or ambition to gratify by entering upon this contest, yet having entered upon it in good faith I shall do all I can to win, and ask for the active assistance of every man who believes that the success of the principles which I have been selected to advocate would be in the interest of this constituency and of the country.

Respectfully Yours,

FRANK OLIVER.

GENERAL NEWS.

The Ontario legislature has passed a bill which imposes a penalty of $100 to $300 for docking horses' tails.

Word has been received from the department of the interior that about 300 Swedish immigrants will arrive in Canada next month.

The hot winds on Monday and Tuesday played havoc with the ice and on Wednesday the water was rushing down, bearing huge cakes, and to-day the ice is all gone and the river looks like a volume of peat so says the Macleod Gazette.

It is understood the Royal commission on prohibition has finished the consideration of the evidence taken and that Sir Joseph Hickson, chairman, has signed the majority report, which is altogether opposed to prohibition. Rev. Joseph McLeod, member of the commission, may probably bring in a minority report.

The Prince Albert Advocate has changed hands, C. R. Stovel having sold out to Messrs. Andrew & Co. In the first issue after the change, is an announcement, that the policy of the paper will continue to be independent—striving to reach the ideal of an independent newspaper by taking a keen interest in all the live issues of the day, attacking any party when necessary, or giving credit where such is due. By that means they hope to retain and add to the confidence already bestowed by the community on the Advocate.

Toronto, March 29.—According to the annual report of the grand secretary of the Independent Order of Oddfellows for the year ending Dec. 31, 1894, there was a net increase in membership for the year of 1,104 within a trifl of the best showing since 1879, and twelve subordinate lodges were instituted. The total membership in good standing is now 21,662. During the year there was paid out in sick benefits and relief $79,555. The total amount paid for current expenses was $75,845, making total disbursements $155,400. The total receipts were $202,515.

Putney, Eng., March 30.—Oxford won the fifty-seventh boat race to-day, between crews representing the universities of Oxford and Cambridge, crossing the line two lengths ahead. The banks of the Thames were crowded at an early hour. The crews started at 4:08 p. m. and Oxford soon had a lead of half a length. At Clasper's boat house Oxford held her lead, but at Craven Cottage, less than three-fourths of a mile from the start, Oxford was only a quarter of a length ahead, and at Waldon's the dark blue had not increased this lead. At Hammersmith bridge, a little over one and three-quarters of a mile from the start, Oxford had increased the lead to half a length and was widening the gap. At Thornycroft, about three miles from the start, Oxford was a length and a quarter ahead, and Devonshire Meadows, the dark blue crew was leading by two lengths. Oxford, at Barnes' bridge, slightly over three and a half miles from the start, held the lead by two lengths, and eventually won by that distance. Oxford started at forty strokes to the minute, the Cambridge stroked contenting himself at thirty-eight. The dark blues throughout the race pulled steadily and like clockwork. Opposite the lead mills Cambridge drew up a little, but the hopes of the admirers of the light blue soon faded away and Oxford increased her lead as she liked. Opposite the Doves, about two miles from the start, Oxford was pulling thirty-nine and Cambridge thirty-eight strokes to the minute. Shortly after passing the Doves, Cambridge again spurted and reduced Oxford's lead a trifle, but the dark blues had increased their lead to two lengths at the Devonshire Meadows and this lead Cambridge could not cut down to any great extent. When the Oxford boat shot Barnes' bridge the dark blue were coming well within their strength and in perfect form. The Cantab rowed gallantly throughout, and did better than expected; but they had evidently had enough of it at the finish. According to the judge's decision Oxford won by a length and a half. The official time of the winning boat is announced to be 20 minutes and 50 seconds.

"YOU ARE MY DOG."

Mr. W. W. Buchanan, editor of The Templar, has been put in nomination by the city of Hamilton as an Independent Prohibitionist. Commenting on this nomination the Rev. J. E. Starr says—"I congratulate the independent citizens of Hamilton upon their pluck and adherence to principle. The trouble in this country is that so many men have been willing to allow either one or the other of the two great political parties to tie a tag on them and say 'You are my dog.' All honor to the man who says 'I will be dog to nobody. I will stand by principle.'
